On October 11, the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America’s Board of Directors unanimously approved to welcome girls into its Cub Scout program and to deliver a Scouting program for older girls that will enable them to advance and earn the highest rank of Eagle Scout. Starting in 2018, Cub Scouting will be available to both girls and boys in the first through fifth grades (or 6 to 10 years old). A program for girls ages 11 to 17 will be introduced in 2019.

So what exactly does this mean for you and your Scouting unit? Here are the top 6 things to know about family Scouting, and how we can work together to bring the benefits of Scouting to more youth while remaining true to our mission:

1. Meeting the needs of today’s families

Our members—both youth and adult—consistently tell us that the values, character, and leadership skills taught through Scouting are needed for the entire family. In order to help meet those needs, BSA’s traditional Scouting programs will be offered to all youth through family Scouting.

“I’ve seen nothing that develops leadership skills and discipline like this organization,” said Randall Stephenson, CEO of AT&T and president of BSA’s national board. “It is time to make these outstanding leadership development programs available to girls.”

Independent research reinforces the requests the BSA has received from families interested in the type of programs that BSA offers for their daughters. According to the research:

- 90 percent of parents not involved with the BSA expressed interest in getting their daughter involved in programs like Cub Scouts.
- 87 percent of parents not involved with the BSA expressed interest in getting their daughter involved in programs like Boy Scouts.

The BSA also sought input from volunteers, chartered partner organizations, parents, youth-development experts, and other stakeholders. Thousands of individuals offered their perspective on how to better serve families through Scouting, and the BSA took all of that feedback into account when developing this offering.

2. Is this change a departure from the BSA’s core mission and identity?

No. In fact, this aligns with the BSA’s mission and values. Our mission is to prepare young people to make ethical and moral choices over their lifetimes by instilling in them the values of the Scout Oath and Scout Law, such as the importance of maintaining a sense of Duty to God and Country. To achieve our mission, we create innovative programs and evolve existing ones to meet the needs of today’s families and deliver them through dedicated volunteers in communities across the nation.

Our time-tested curriculum will remain the same—BSA’s program content and activities are appropriate for boys and girls alike, as are the current rank advancement requirements.
As always, volunteers have the ability to tailor activities to meet the developmental needs and abilities of Scouts in their packs and troops.

There are no plans to change our name at this time. We are focused on serving youth with the best character and leadership development program possible.

3. Does this mean that Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts will be co-ed?

The BSA strongly believes in the benefit of single-gender programs, and the family Scouting model builds on the benefit of a single-gender program while also providing character and leadership opportunities for both boys and girls.

4. Can a pack decide to remain boys-only? Can there be girls-only packs?

Yes—starting in 2018, existing Cub Scout packs can elect how they wish to open their membership.

An existing pack may choose to recruit girls or remain an all-boy pack. When creating a new pack, a chartered organization may form an all-boy pack, an all-girl pack or a pack of girls and boys.

Remember, each Cub Scout pack is comprised of multiple dens. Cub Scout dens will be single-gender—all boys or all girls. Cub Scout packs, meanwhile, can include any combination of all-boy or all-girl dens. The choice is left to individual pack leaders in consultation with their chartered organization.

5. What will this mean for girls after Cub Scouts?

A program for girls age 11 to 17 will be launched in 2019, allowing participating girls to achieve Scouting’s highest rank, the Eagle Scout Award. By paving a path for young women to earn the Eagle Scout rank, more of our future leaders will be equipped with the life-long values that BSA has instilled in youth for more than a century.

6. What does this mean for Youth Protection?

Youth protection and safety is paramount in all of the BSA’s programs. We invest resources and time to continuously strengthen our youth-protection program. As we begin to develop procedures for girls joining Cub Scouts and the program for older girls, we will be evaluating any changes needed to ensure the safety of all youth.

2018 Patron Luncheon to Feature NASA Astronaut

The 2018 Patron Luncheon is set for March 1, 2018 with featured guest speaker Captain Jerry Linenger. Linenger is a retired US Navy flight surgeon and NASA astronaut who was aboard the Russian space station Mir during one of the most dangerous and dramatic missions in space history.

Linenger faced numerous life-threatening events, including repeated failure of life-support systems, a near-collision between the space station and an incoming re-supply spacecraft and computer failures that sent the space station tumbling uncontrollably through space. As if these problems were not enough, he narrowly survived a raging out-of-control fire that was later described as the most severe fire ever aboard an orbiting spacecraft.

Hear Captain Linenger’s dramatic story of heroism and survival all while supporting Scouting in the Heart of America Council. Limited sponsorship and Table Host opportunities are now available for this invitation-only event. Interested in attending? Contact Bob Hamlin at 816-569-4921 or bob.hamlin@scouting.org.

November 15, 2017—Polsinelli

On November 15, the Heart of America Council hosted its first ever Eagle Scout Mother’s Brunch at the Polsinelli Plaza office. The inaugural “mom-only” event connected and sparked a conversation between Scout moms across Kansas City on how to impact local Scouting programs now and for generations to come.

This year, the Heart of America Council will have over 800 young men earn the rank of Eagle Scout—more than twice the national average. It is estimated that over 42,000 Eagle Scouts reside in the greater Kansas City area.

The brunch was chaired by Eagle Scout mom and philanthropist, Barbara Cusick, and featured keynote speaker Tammy Reid, wife of Andy Reid, head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs. Tammy Reid, also the mother of Eagle Scouts, discussed the tremendous impact and duty that women have to affect the future of Scouting.

Following the brunch, all participants were invited to an afternoon of organized shopping on the Country Club Plaza at more than 20 partnering stores. All proceeds benefitted the Heart of America Council’s Scoutreach program—a program that makes Scouting available to all youth across Kansas City.

Hike a Mile in Their Shoes

November 7, 2017—American Restaurant

On November 7, the Heart of America Council held its inaugural Hike a Mile in Their Shoes event at the American Restaurant at Crown Center. The reception celebrated the impact that Scouting is making in Kansas City’s urban core. The event featured the presentation of the Whitney M. Young, Jr. Service Award—a national Scouting award that recognizes individuals who have demonstrated involvement in the development and implementation of Scouting opportunities for youth from rural or low-income urban backgrounds. The 2017 Whitney M. Young, Jr. Award recipients were Kansas City, MO Mayor Sylvester “Sly” James and Daryel Garrison, Scoutmaster and Kidzone Program Director for Kansas City, Kansas Public Schools. The Heart of America Council serves over 4,000 at-risk inner-city youth through the Scoutreach program

The program concluded with the awarding of two $10,000 college scholarships to Eagle Scouts Alexander Arriaga and Bryce Rose. Both Scouts faced obstacles in obtaining their coveted Eagle Scout badge, but persevered in reaching Scouting’s highest rank.
